Residence Rules – Process

When a violation of the Rules is brought to the attention of Management, Cold Moon Student House is responsible for ensuring that an investigation is conducted, and for deciding, when necessary, upon the appropriate disciplinary action.

Not all conflicts and resident concerns fall under a breach or rules. In such a diverse community there will often be varying interpretations of the Cold Moon Student House Rules, as well as varying expectations about how they need to be enforced. Our goal is to support residents to work through their conflicts and disagreements with other residents, whether the issue is noise, messiness or disrespect. After meeting with the affected parties, Cold Moon Student House Management (or designate) may decide upon the appropriate mediation action.

Where necessary, Cold Moon Student House Management may impose standard restitution on a particular floor, area, or group of individual residents if the behavior warrants such action. Residents who choose to be part of a group that is violating Cold Moon Student House Rules may collectively and individually be held responsible for the violation.

Situations where individual resident's behavior constitutes self-harming will be deemed to permit intervention and support by RCMP or 911 Emergency Services. This requirement will not only provide individual intervention, but will also provide Cold Moon Student House Management with a determination of the residents suitability to live in an interdependent student community.

2.1 Alcohol Use in Residence

The Cold Moon Student House community has unique social and developmental needs and individual actions have direct effects on only on the individual, but also on the entire community at large. You and your guests are obligated to use alcohol responsibly and legally. You are fully accountable for your own actions as well as the actions of your guests. You are also responsible for knowing, understanding and complying with Cold Moon Student House Rules, in addition the provincial laws relating to alcohol.

Overall it is our intention to emphasize that the safety of residents and their guests is paramount, and that this safety must be ensured where alcohol is present. We strive to create an environment where choosing not to drink is as socially acceptable as choosing to drink; where the needs of all community members are respected; and to create awareness and promote responsible attitudes towards alcohol in a manner that is consistent with the philosophies and objectives of Cold Moon Student House. Our goal is to create a culture and maintain a community where the effects of alcohol abuse and the problems of behavior associated with it, are minimal.

Possession or consumption of alcohol by individuals under 19 years of age in British Columbia is a violation of provincial law and Cold Moon Student House policy. You and your guests are responsible for knowing, understanding and complying with both standards. Failure to do so may result in eviction.

Alcohol consumption is not an excuse for disruptive or unacceptable behavior. Cold Moon Student House are responsible for the enforcement of this policy.
